Nanotech found in Pfizer jab in New Zealand

Last week NZDSOS was asked to a private New Zealand laboratory where expert microscopy analysis was being performed on the contents of the Pfizer Comirnaty vials.

This has revealed that the vials contain advanced nanotechnology components which appear to be deliberately included in these vials - for an undisclosed purpose, and without any discussions.

Overseas groups started reporting these findings late last year and we have been attempting to confirm or refute that work, especially in light of the injury and death toll from the rollout being obviously much worse than official figures suggested. We have submitted our concerns to government over and over.

The documentary proof produced by this laboratory analysis has now been supplied to Ministers after regulators pulled out of our arranged meeting last Friday. Members of our Parliament Health Select Committee were also alerted on Friday 28th January 2022 in a livestream submission. No-one has rung us or our lawyers since. We beg them to test our evidence.

We are outraged that this type of 'contamination' should be present in the Pfizer Comirnaty vials, especially after the relentless narrative barrage and censorship. So we again call for the roll out of this nation-wide vaccination campaign to be halted immediately until this apparent witches brew is fully understood and revealed.

The shocking discovery of nanotechnology components in these New Zealand vaccine vials must now destroy any possible trust in this Pfizer product. No NZ citizen could possibly have given informed consent to being injected with nanotechnology components!

Medsafe was earlier found guilty of breaching its own rules when it gave provisional consent for Pfizer Comirnaty so the government quickly changed the law. Why is this government so 'hell bent' on vaccinating everyone with an experimental product? Why no exemptions for vaccine-injured citizens? Why inject children?

These and many other questions must be asked by the press, and ideally by NZ Police, to whom these findings should scream potential criminality.

Some evidence has already been released – not by us – and we understand that soon the world will see it all. We just carry the message, but can you dare risk ignoring it?
