Our Position for the Australian COVID-19 Royal Commission 2024

New Zealand Doctors Speaking Out With Science (NZDSOS) is a group of several hundred mainly medical doctors, dentists and scientists. We have collaborated already on a comprehensive Terms of Reference (TOR) document that is lodged with the New Zealand parliament for our own RC. Here is the link.

Further, we fully endorse the comprehensive expert document made today by the Australian Medical Professionals Society.

Our own NZ Royal Commission's TOR eventually excluded any mention of safety or effectiveness. It has ground to a halt and is largely defunct now.

The will of NZ citizens was heard during our last election, and public facing and comprehensive investigations have been promised.

As with every other country that rolled out the mRNA vaccines, the procurement contracts signed by Australia and New Zealand have been treated as paramount, seemingly overriding domestic and international human rights protections. However, NZDSOS is very concerned that evidence of criminality exists and must be brought to light.

Specifically, the RCI must be powered to show the public if the following are true:

that officials knew that safety concerns arose rapidly; that mRNA trials used for approval were fraudulent, misrepresented, misinterpreted and did contain vital and visible safety signals from the outset; that the vaccine rollout was continued into a 'nudged' population DESPITE this knowledge; that deaths and serious injuries were not adequately assessed for causality (if they were assessed at all) and continued whilst officials maintained guilty knowledge, to this day; that many doctors, researchers and concerned citizens have provided detailed proof of all the foregoing.

Further, Australia's medical profession has been captured, and the ethical protections for patients, as covered by the statutory Code of Conduct and many other oaths and declarations, have been removed. The common law principle of Equity, of having 'clean hands' whilst upholding our fiduciary obligations, has been subverted, and an enquiry MUST examine how, and who was responsible.

The overarching excuse used to derogate all important human rights protections - that of "an unprecedented global health emergency" was a convenient 'out' if not an outright lie. Many politicians, bureaucrats and experts have been tricked into this lie, but a few knew exactly what they were doing. An inquiry should seek to establish the difference, and find where responsibility rests.

That officials knew or, at the very least, should have known that prior to 2020, the established methods of containing a pandemic specifically excluded the lockdown of healthy people and the masking of the population and that they either ignored or were wilfully blind to the significant second order consequences that these measures would have on the health of the population.

Given the conspiratorial and deadly elements that could emerge from an honest and comprehensive inquiry, thought must be given to the pace and order of the subjects examined. The truth as it emerges may be very shocking indeed for many Australians, but the Commission must be mindful of its responsibility to the truth, above all else.

Yours faithfully,

NZDSOS steering committee

On behalf of all our members and supporters, and all the people of New Zealand.
